THE HARTFORD REPUBLICAN.

OFFICIAL ORGAN OF THE PARTY IN THE FOURTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

VOL. IX.

HARTFORD, KY., FRIDAY, JULY 2, 1897.

NO. 49.

DARKNESS AND DAYLIGHT.

Or Lights and Shadows of New York.

In his new and superbly illustrated work a noble Christian woman tells the thrilling story of her personal experience in Gospel, temperance, mission, and reform work in a great city. No recent publication is now commanding so much attention nor has any other called forth such ringing words of "God-speed" from ministers and eminent women. It has been preached about from famous pulpits, read by tens of thousands of subscribers, and made the subject of many a clergyman's Sunday evening lecture. Its authorship is fourfold, its four authors being no less than—Mrs. Helen Campbell, Rev. Lyman Abbott, D. D., Col. Thomas W. Kuus, and Inspector Thomas Hyman, Chief of the New York Detective Bureau.

Mrs. Campbell, the principal writer, certainly was a woman commissioned of God, and "In His Name" spent many years as a city missionary. Literally "In Darkest New York," Whata wonderful work she did. How devoted and blessed her labors were. It is a story never to be forgotten. This unique volume presents these thrilling experiences of Christian endeavor with the hundreds of pathetic and amusing scenes that were packed into them; it portrays life in a great city by day and by night "As Seen by a Woman"; it shows the power of the Gospel to redeem souls from the lowest depths; it gives striking testimonies of the redeemed; and from all these rich and varied experiences it draws living truths for heart and head that are worth to any reader ten times the price of the book. Mrs. Campbell's account of rescue work is full of wonderfully touching incidents. Stranger stories are here told than romance ever dreamed of, every one of them drawn from real life by a woman's hand. In every chapter she weaves in anecdote after anecdote, incident after incident, story after story, and the reader's attention is held breathless to the end of the volume. "Strange but most suggestive is the fact," says Bishop Cox in warmly commending this volume, "that Christ is to be visited in these dens and dives; that are those whom He will hear in mind when He says: 'Ye visited me?' or, when he says: 'Ye did it not to Me?'"

Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott's life-long interest in City Mission work, and his personal share in that work, pre-eminently fitted him to write for this book. In his introduction to it he says:—

"My interest in these phases of city life dates from my college days. From that day to this—over a third of a century—I have continued the studies then begun, and the subject of this book has been one of the great subjects of my study—sometimes in literature, often in life."

No appeal from temperance advocates can do more to promote the cause of temperance than the thrilling scenes and incidents so well described; at least so says Mrs. Mary A. Livermore and Miss Frances E. Willard. One of the most absorbingly interesting portions of the book is that written by Inspector Hyman given the ripe experience of thirty years of detective life. Many of the startling revelations he makes are taken from his private diary. They have never before been published.

This fascinating volume is indeed a wonderful tale of Christian love and faith, all alive with intense and striking reality. The best of it is that it is a pure and elevating book from beginning to end—a volume for the family circle. On this point the words of Rev. Dr. Twichell (who has a family of ten children) and Rev. Dr. Magoun, President Iowa College, are worth quoting here: Dr. Twichell writes,—

"My wife says that she is going to set our young people on the book right off, for the good it will do them"; and President Magoun says,— "My family finds, where other books on our shelves lack interest, this one always holds and rewards attention."

It contains 252 superb engravings, every one of them made from photographs taken from life, mostly by flash light. Every face is a portrait, every scene a scene reality. In looking at these splendid illustrations the reader sees at a glance just how Gospel work is carried on by day and by night by rescue bands; he is shown strange sights in out of the way places that are rarely or never seen by the casual visitor; he is taken into cheap lodging-houses and cellars; into the homes of the poor; into unwholesome lodging-houses; into the police and detective departments, etc.,—nothing seems to be omitted.

We do not know how 710 pages have given us more genuine pleasure. If we speak warmly of the book, it is because it richly deserves it. It is not only by agents, and is meeting with an enormous sale. Agents who introduce such a work ought to be cordially welcomed. A better work has certainly never come to our table. It will be read over and over again by old and young, with every increasing pleasure and lasting profit.

The work is published by the old and well-known firm of A. D. Worthington & Co., Hartford, Conn., whose imprint is an indelible guarantee of the excellence of this first-class volume. Royal Octavo, 740 pages. 252 fine plates, portraits, and text illustrations.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle of common water glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment of acrid matter indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold urine and aching pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists price fifty cents and one dollar. For a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail, mention THE HARTFORD REPUBLICAN and send your full post-office address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

FRIENDSHIP. June 26—The wheat crop is being harvested and is reported to be good.

The corn crop is late on account of the dry, cool weather.

Rev. Rowe preached at Sugar Grove church Sunday night.

Mrs. Evans, of this place, has been very sick for some time, but is somewhat better at this writing.

Uncle Wes Hooker, of near Denver Dnn, representing the South Carolina Marble Works, was in town this week.

Uncle John Ralph and wife, of near Ralph Chapel, were the guests of his son-in-law, Mr. T. D. Royal, this week.

Mrs. M. N. Brandon, who has been very ill for some time, is thought to be somewhat better.

Died on the 22nd, inst., a little son of Mr. George Belsmy, near Deane-field. They have the sympathy of the neighborhood. M.A.

5100 Howard Street.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one decade disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address:

F. J. CLENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists. 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

There is no use taking pills or purgatives to cure chills. Dr. Bell's Peppermint Cure cures them by itself. It does more than that, too—it gives you a new dress on the inside. It tones you up and makes you strong. It makes you feel some account. Sold on a guarantee. For sale by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

Look Big to Advertise.

When a firm is in the heyday of its prosperity, when business is good and competition not felt, it is no unusual thing for an advertising solicitor to be informed that the concern is so well known and its business already so extensive that advertising is a useless expenditure of money. We have known a number to argue in this way. In almost every instance where this has happened we have seen younger competitors, by judicious advertising and push, pass them in the race for business. Then these concerns that were too well known to advertise would awaken to the situation and their advertisements would again appear, but while they were sleeping their wide awake competitors must necessarily have made inroads into their business, which, with fair treatment and business like methods, they will hold. Let the largest house in any line stop advertising, and note what an incredibly short space of time a larger business will be built up by somebody who works while they sleep.

If your eyes feel like sand and were under the lashes, if they burn and your sight is indistinct, Sutherland's Eagle Eye Salve will make the right. It has cured thousands of cases of sore eyes and granulated lids long standing. It cures when others fail. It is a liniment. Druggists sell it. For sale by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

CARLISLE

Does Not Care to Be President of the United States.

Says He Would Make the Sacrifice However For His Constituency.

Now Practicing Law on an Immense Scale in New York.

The Louisville Commercial says: "Hon. John G. Carlisle, ex Secretary of the United States Treasury, was at the Galt House last night, having arrived from Lexington yesterday afternoon."

"He was called upon by a reporter for the Commercial last night, and when asked if he would state the nature of his business in this city said:

"Yes, sir, I will. I am here to look after the interests of the Comptroller of the Currency in the German National Bank affairs. I hoped to have a consultation with Messrs. Humphrey & Davis so as to learn the nature of the bank's affairs, but I was disappointed, inasmuch as Mr. Humphrey was out of town; but I will hold the consultation with him tomorrow."

"How long will you remain in the city?"

"That I can not tell, I am very anxious to get through and get back to my office. I may have to remain here until Monday, but I can not tell whether we will take any steps in the case during my stay here or not."

"What is there new in the political arena at the present, so far as you know?"

"I positively refuse to be interviewed on any national or political questions, for, as I have said before, I came here on legal business, not political."

It is true that you have opened an office in New York, and have formed a partnership with one of the largest law firms in that city?"

"Yes, I have opened an office, but I have formed no partnership with any one. I represent one of the largest firms there, but I have no interest in the firm other than to act as counsel for them whenever they deem it necessary to have my advice on any subject."

"Will your visit here this time have any bearing on Kentucky politics or the action of the gold Democrats in regard to their fusion with the Republican party?"

"None whatever. I do not know what the situation is, but one thing I do know, and that is that I will have no time for anything else but legal business."

"Before the reporter for the Commercial had an opportunity to have a talk with the ex-Secretary of the Treasury he found that gentleman in close consultation with several of Louisville's most prominent citizens at the Galt House. One of these happened to be a very prominent doctor, who was an ardent supporter of the Indianapolis platform, and during this conversation this doctor said that the South would have to have another President, and that President would have to be John Griffin Carlisle, of Kentucky."

"To this the great statesman shook his head and said: 'I am very sorry to say that I do not care to be President of the United States; I do not care for the office, but I suppose, should I be compelled to take it, I would have to make the sacrifice in order to please my constituents.'"

Victoria Queen and Empress. Victoria's career is the one topic uppermost in the world's mind to-day. The story of her reign, of the expansion of her empire and of the deeds of its statesmen and sages is a marvelous one. But "men are more than constitutions." The worthy monarch is greater than her realm. The personality of Victoria is a more pleasant and convincing fact in human history than even the magnitude of her empire. And this jubilee, which is this week to be celebrated with undreamed and unexampled splendor, is, above all, a personal jubilee. It is not preliminarily to exploit the expansion of the empire or the achievements of its subjects, but to commemorate the Queen's personal achievement in prolonging her reign beyond the compass of any other in English history, and her personal share of credit for all that has been done.

The estimate made of Victoria's personality is that it has been throughout a potent and triumphant fact in most of the great doings of her reign; incomparably more potent than that of any of her predecessors. This, it may well be believed, is entirely true. By a delightful paradox the most constitutional of monarchs has been the most autocratic. The Queen who has most of all subordinated her will to that of her people has most of all imposed her will upon them and upon all the progress of their social arts. That is, explained by the further analysis of her character and circumstances. She is seen to have been from the onset a true Englishwoman, the first really British sovereign the realm has had for many reigns, to have shown herself, in good faith and above suspicion, a consistent and progressive constitutional sovereign, and to have been in the highest and deepest sense of the term a model of true womanhood. When to these conditions we add her unusual intellectual powers and executive ability and "having common sense," the secret of her unprecedented personal prestige is made obvious.

The world is greatly enriched by such a personality. The boisterous old notion of hero worship, as Mr. Morley felicitously phrases it, may well be seen "to be only a shallow truth." But it is equally true that "the world will never be able to spare its hero, and the man with the rare and exceptional gift of genius will always be as commanding a figure as he has ever been." Such a figure is that of Great Britain's venerable Queen. Above all the great soldiers and statesmen and writers and scientists of the time, she stands supreme upon the world's oft-degraded degenerate stage a personality of classic virtues and classic greatness in the arduous greatness of great deeds done. Honor and praise and world-wide congratulations may well be rendered her.—[N. Y. Tribune.]

The House for Congress.

It is not improbable that within a day or two Mr. C. W. Bransford will announce himself a candidate for congress. He has received very strong pressure to make the race and is favorably considering the matter. The speeches Mr. Bransford made in the campaign of 1896 made a very deep impression upon all who heard them. They were pronounced as among the very best that were heard in Kentucky. He had no thought at the time he was made a candidate for elector on the Democratic ticket of ever offering for an office, being simply a business man, but he was deeply interested in the great issue that was then, and continues to now be, a most absorbing one before the people, and he threw his whole heart into the subject. The fruits of that work are now manifest in the demands upon him to make the race for congress.

Mr. J. E. Rowe is also considering seriously the congressional race, but he has just been nominated for Commonwealth's Attorney and the election for that office does not occur until next November. The congressional election occurs in November of next year, but the early and aggressive candidacy of Mr. Dempsy, of Hopkins, will probably force that contest into this year's politics.—[Owensboro Messenger.]
